DETAILED ACTION

Claims 1-17 are pending.

Information Disclosure Statement

References cited in the Information Disclosure Statement, filed on 6/6/2005, are made of record.

Claim Rejections - 35 USC § 112

The following is a quotation of the second paragraph of 35 U.S.C. 112:

The specification shall conclude with one or more claims particularly pointing out and distinctly claiming the subject matter which the applicant regards as his invention.

Claim 17 provides for the use of the composition of claim 1 but, since the claim does not set forth any steps involved in the method/process, it is unclear what method/process applicant is intending to encompass. A claim is indefinite where it merely recites a use without any active, positive steps delimiting how this use is actually practiced.

Claim Rejections - 35 USC § 101

35 U.S.C. 101 reads as follows:

Whoever invents or discovers any new and useful process, machine, manufacture, or composition of matter, or any new and useful improvement thereof, may obtain a patent therefor, subject to the conditions and requirements of this title.

Claim 17 is rejected under 35 U.S.C. 101 because the claimed recitation of a use, without setting forth any steps involved in the process, results in an improper definition of a process, i.e., results in a claim which is not a proper process claim under 35 U.S.C. 101. See for example Ex parte Dunki, 153 USPQ 678 (Bd.App. 1967) and Clinical Products, Ltd. v. Brenner, 255 F. Supp. 131, 149 USPQ 475 (D.D.C. 1966).

Claim Rejections - 35 USC § 102

The following is a quotation of the appropriate paragraphs of 35 U.S.C. 102 that form the basis for the rejections under this section made in this Office action:

A person shall be entitled to a patent unless –

(b) the invention was patented or described in a printed publication in this or a foreign country or in public use or on sale in this country, more than one year prior to the date of application for patent in the United States.

Claims 1-17 are rejected under 35 U.S.C. 102(b) as being anticipated by Fletcher et al., US 6,255,483.

Fletcher et al., teaches several trisubstituted triazines bearing biphenyl groups and their composition with other UV stabilizers, which include instant composition and method of use. See column 1, formula I and formula Ia and note the definition of various variable groups. Note with the given definition of various variable groups, the compounds taught by Fletcher et al. include instant compounds. instant compounds are thus a subgenus of the genus of compounds of Fletcher et al., formula Ia wherein R₁ is alkyl interrupted by oxygen, alkyl substituted by hydroxyl or carboxylate group. See R₁ definition. See column 2-11 for various preferred embodiments. Especially see column 15, lines 27-32, wherein Fletcher et al., teaches use of additional UV stabilizer. See column 15-21 which teaches various other UV stabilizers including benzotriazoles, benzophenones etc embraced in the instant claims. See column 30-49 for examples 1-28 which include instant composition and method of use.

Claim Rejections - 35 USC § 103

The following is a quotation of 35 U.S.C. 103(a) which forms the basis for all obviousness rejections set forth in this Office action:

Art Unit: 1624

(a) A patent may not be obtained though the invention is not identically disclosed or described as set forth in section 102 of this title, if the differences between the subject matter sought to be patented and the prior art are such that the subject matter as a whole would have been obvious at the time the invention was made to a person having ordinary skill in the art to which said subject matter pertains. Patentability shall not be negated by the manner in which the invention was made.

The factual inquiries set forth in Graham v. John Deere Co., 383 U.S. 1, 148 USPQ 459 (1966), that are applied for establishing a background for determining obviousness under 35 U.S.C. 103(a) are summarized as follows:

1. Determining the scope and contents of the prior art.
2. Ascertaining the differences between the prior art and the claims at issue.
3. Resolving the level of ordinary skill in the pertinent art.
4. Considering objective evidence present in the application indicating obviousness or nonobviousness.

This application currently names joint inventors. In considering patentability of the claims under 35 U.S.C. 103(a), the examiner presumes that the subject matter of the various claims was commonly owned at the time any inventions covered therein were made absent any evidence to the contrary. Applicant is advised of the obligation under 37 CFR 1.56 to point out the inventor and invention dates of each claim that was not commonly owned at the time a later invention was made in order for the examiner to consider the applicability of 35 U.S.C. 103(c) and potential 35 U.S.C. 102(e), (f) or (g) prior art under 35 U.S.C. 103(a).

Claims 1-17 are rejected under 35 U.S.C. 103(a) as being unpatentable over Fletcher et al., US 6,255,483.

Teachings of Fletcher et al., as discussed in the above 102 rejection is incorporated herein. As note above, Fletcher et al., teaches several trisubstituted triazines bearing biphenyl groups and their composition with other UV stabilizers, which include instant composition and method of use. See column 1, formula I and formula Ia and note the definition of various variable groups. Note with the given definition of various variable groups, the compounds taught by Fletcher et al. include instant compounds. instant compounds are thus a subgenus of the genus of compounds of Fletcher et al., formula Ia wherein R_1 is alkyl interrupted by oxygen, alkyl substituted by hydroxyl or carboxylate group. See R_1 definition. See column 2-11 for various preferred embodiments. Especially see column 15, lines 27-32, wherein Fletcher et al., teaches use of additional UV stabilizer. See column 15-21 which teaches various other UV stabilizers including benzotriazoles, benzophenones etc embraced in the instant claims. See column 30-49 for examples 1-28 which include instant composition and method of use.

Fletcher et al. differs from the instant claims in exemplifying only few triazine compounds with R_1 choices embraced in the instant claims.

However, Fletcher et al. teaches equivalency of those compounds taught in column 30-49 with those generically recited in column 2-32.

Thus, it would have been obvious to one having ordinary skill in the art at the time of the invention was made to make compositions using the teachings of Fletcher et al and expect resulting composition to possess the uses taught by the art in view of the equivalency teaching outline above.
